"I Have Declared"

There are a number of fabulous thoughts in Psalm 40 which deserve our serious meditation. The writer of the book of Hebrews applied one portion of it (40:6-8) to the attitude of the Christ in doing the Father's will (Hebrews 10:5-7).

Other aspects of Psalm 40, though, could not be in reference to Jesus since they talk about one possessing iniquities (40:12). The Master had none of those. Please consider another part of the 40th Psalm – verses nine and ten: "I have preached righteousness in the great congregation: lo, I have not refrained my lips, O LORD, thou knowest. I have not hid thy righteousness within my heart; I have declared thy faithfulness and thy salvation: I have not concealed thy lovingkindness and thy truth from the great congregation."

This passage extols the amazing character of Jehovah, pointing to His righteousness, faithfulness, salvation, and lovingkindness. Our God is awesome! Yet, and this is extremely important, the Psalmist did more than possess knowledge about God's attributes. He not only acknowledged them, He also talked about them to others.

That is right: He preached righteousness in the assembly/ congregation (40:9). Yes, God's will was in His heart (40:8), but he did not leave God's righteousness and other traits in his heart – he declared them! Rather than refrain his lips from talking about the truth, he used his lips to spread it! Oh, brothers and sisters, we have got to move past simply accumulating knowledge and fearlessly declare God's will to anyone who will listen!

According to Psalm 40, the Psalmist had God's will in his heart (40:8). Second, he desired and delighted to do it (40:8). Third, he declared/proclaimed the truth that he knew. It is not a complicated approach: learn it, live it, proclaim it. That is what Christians should do, too. We live and breathe to do our Lord's bidding, and we want to help others be saved and go to heaven with us.

Are you looking for an opportunity to tell others some good news from the Bible? How about inviting them to our regular services, our upcoming Family Bible School, or to a home Bible study?
